COVID-19 UPDATE,

Blackhawk Aerospace Solutions, LLC. (BAS) would like to ensure everyone that we understand the threat of the COVID-19 virus and are practicing all the safe procedures outlined by the U.S. Surgeon General in doing social distancing and office cleaning. We will continue to monitor developments associated with the coronavirus outbreak and take immediate steps to support our customers.

BAS has ensured our employees have the technical support to telework if the direction is given by Governor Kay Ivy or other local government officials. For those that have extenuating circumstances, we have allowed them to have flexibility of telework. BAS will continue to support all aspects of our business and customers. We have continued to have telephone or email contact with our customers. Our superb suppliers can meet any demand for our products and we stand ready to support you and the War Fighter.

Please know our thoughts are with those that have been affected by the coronavirus and the Service Members who are in harms way as this outbreak is making their mission more difficult.

Stay Safe,

Pete Franks
